

THE POPES OF THE GREGORIAN RENAISSANCE. ST LEO IX TO HONORIUS II.A.D. 1049-1130 (THE LIVES OF THE POPES IN THE MIDDLE AGES Book 7)

Horace K. Mann

CONTENTS

ST. LEO IX. (1049-1054)
VICTOR II. (1055-1057),
STEPHEN (IX.) X. (1057-1058)
NICHOLAS II. (1059-1061)
ALEXANDER II. (1061-1073)
ST. GREGORY VII. (1073-1085)
B. VICTOR III. (1086-1087)
B. URBAN II. (1088-1099)
PASCHAL I (1099-1118)
GELASIUS II (1118-1119)
CALIXTUS II (1119-11124)
HONORIUS II (1124-1130)

The century of papal history which it is hoped will be illustrated by the following pages was the age dominated by the great name of Hildebrand, and hence is often described as the saeculum Hildebrandicum. It was the age in which that high-minded and pure-souled monk strove, either by his own exertions or by those which he inspired, to promote that reform in the Church which had been inaugurated by St. Leo IX. The efforts at reform took the shape of a determined struggle against the triple scourge of simony, clerical incontinence, and the tyrannical interference of the powerful in the domain of the Church, and were at length focussed in the fight against lay investiture. But the attempt to stifle this abuse which was begun under the saintly Pontiff from Lorraine, was not destined to be concluded either in his reign, during which Hildebrand was trained, or in those of his immediate successors who were under the influence of Hildebrand, or in that of Hildebrand himself. It was not to be terminated till the pontificate of Calixtus II; while the general contest between the Papacy and the Empire which took its rise in this attempt at reform was to last till the fifteenth century, and was, in the temporal order, to exhaust both.

The reforming zeal of the Popes of the school of Hildebrand almost everywhere encountered the most stubborn opposition; so deep-rooted were the evils they strove to eradicate, so dear were they to the passions of the clergy, or to the interests of the great. And nowhere did they meet with greater opposition than in Italy. If simony was rife in France, it was worse in Germany, and worst of all in Italy; and if the spectacle of married priests and bishops was not uncommon in other countries of Europe, it was nowhere more obvious than in Italy, and especially in Milan and in Lombardy generally. The reason of this is not far to seek. Though the Church OF Italy, especially in its northern portion, had, owing to the power of its bishops, and to the comparatively rare interfering visits of the German emperors, been free to a very large extent from the royal oppression under which it groaned in other countries, it had become thoroughly demoralized by the terrible anarchy of the tenth century, and its bishops were, for the most part, as loose in their morals as their secular compeers.

Though, then, the fight for independence and reform upon which the Popes had entered was to be long and bitter, and was to bring upon them a very large share of suffering from the Franconian emperors and their contemptible antipopes, they were not to stand alone in the combat. The words of such fiery champions of reform as St. Peter Damian must never be taken too literally. There were always good priests and even good bishops, and that too even in Italy, who were longing for a reformation in manners, and who were only waiting for an opportunity to help to promote it. Especially were the Popes supported by the religious orders, by the Camaldolese, founded by St. Romuald (1009), by the Premonstratensians (1125), and especially by the Benedictines, revived by the reforms of Cluny and by those of the Carthusians (1084), and of the Cistercians (1098), and producing from such centres as Bec and Clairvaux men like Lanfranc and SS. Anselm and Bernard. They were sustained also in their conflict against the powers of evil by men deservedly conspicuous for their sanctity, by St. Peter Damian, by St. Bruno of Segni, by St. John Gualbert, with his order of Vallombrosa, and by St. Bruno with his Carthusians, who by their silence and penitential life protested loudly against the disorders of the age.....

- [Practical Computer Literacy by Parsons, June Jamrich, Oja, Dan \[Cengage Learning,2010\] \[Paperback\] 3RD EDITION](#)
- Field Day Review 6, 2010
- The God Who Hates Lies: Confronting & Rethinking Jewish Tradition \(Paperback\) - Common
- Secrets of the Universe Your Guide to the Cosmos and Beyond \(ALL\)
- Ruthless
- Insight and Illusion: Themes in the Philosophy of Wittgenstein
- Seeing What Is Sacred: Becoming More Spiritually Sensitive to the Everyday Moments of Life
- Deciphering the 1790-1840 U.S. Census Records: Two case studies
- Pentascale Pro, Bk 2: An Introduction to Major and Minor 5-Finger Patterns \(Lesson Enhancement Series\)
- The Cost of Courage in Aztec Society: Essays on Mesoamerican Society and Culture by Clendinnen, Inga \(2010\) Paperback
- Memory: Foundations and Applications
- Twelve Days \(The McRaes Series, Book 1 - Sam & Rachel\)
- Cracking the AP U.S. History Exam, 2010 Edition \(College Test Preparation\)
- Tolerance and Community
- The Shepherd's Life: Modern Dispatches from an Ancient Landscape
- The Nautical Magazine and Naval Chronicle for 1866 \(Cambridge Library Collection - The Nautical Magazine\)
- [Elementary Real Analysis: Second Edition. \[Part One\]](#)
- The New Cambridge Modern History, Vol. 1: The Renaissance, 1493-1520
- Do All Indians Live in Tipis?: Questions and Answers from the National Museum of the American Indian by National Museum of the American Indian \(2007\) Paperback
- [THE UNOFFICIAL GUIDE TO NEW YORK CITY \(UNOFFICIAL GUIDE TO NEW YORK CITY\) by Zibart, Eve \( Author \) on Apr-26-2010\[ Paperback \]](#)

THE POPES OF THE GREGORIAN RENAISSANCE. ST LEO IX TO HONORIUS II.A.D. 1049-1130 (THE LIVES OF THE POPES IN THE MIDDLE AGES Book 7) Summary Details

THE POPES OF THE GREGORIAN RENAISSANCE. ST LEO IX TO HONORIUS II.A.D. 1049-1130 (THE LIVES OF THE POPES IN THE MIDDLE AGES Book 7) by Horace K. Mann ebook read online.

This THE POPES OF THE GREGORIAN RENAISSANCE. ST LEO IX TO HONORIUS II.A.D. 1049-1130 (THE LIVES OF THE POPES IN THE MIDDLE AGES Book 7) by Horace K. Mann book is simply not ordinary book, you have after that it the world is in your hands. The benefit you will get by reading this book is usually information inside this e-book incredible fresh, you will get information which is getting deeper an individual read a lot of information you will get. This kind of THE POPES OF THE GREGORIAN RENAISSANCE. ST LEO IX TO HONORIUS II.A.D. 1049-1130 (THE LIVES OF THE POPES IN THE MIDDLE AGES Book 7) by Horace K. Mann without we recognize teach the one who studying it become critical in imagining and analyzing. Don't become worry THE POPES OF THE GREGORIAN RENAISSANCE. ST LEO IX TO HONORIUS II.A.D. 1049-1130 (THE LIVES OF THE POPES IN THE MIDDLE AGES Book 7) by Horace K. Mann can bring whenever you are and not make your carrier space or bookshelves' become full because you can have it within your lovely laptop even telephone. This THE POPES OF THE GREGORIAN RENAISSANCE. ST LEO IX TO HONORIUS II.A.D. 1049-1130 (THE LIVES OF THE POPES IN THE MIDDLE AGES Book 7) by Horace K. Mann having great arrangement in word as well as layout, so you will not sense uninterested in reading.

Editorial

The book THE POPES OF THE GREGORIAN RENAISSANCE. ST LEO IX TO HONORIUS II.A.D. 1049-1130 (THE LIVES OF THE POPES IN THE MIDDLE AGES Book 7) by Horace K. Mann has a lot info on it. So when you check out this book you can get a lot of advantage. The book was published by the very famous author. This articles author makes some research ahead of write this book. This book very easy to read you may get the point easily after looking over this book. The book THE POPES OF THE GREGORIAN RENAISSANCE. ST LEO IX TO HONORIUS II.A.D. 1049-1130 (THE LIVES OF THE POPES IN THE MIDDLE AGES Book 7) by Horace K. Mann can give more knowledge and information about everything you want. So just why must we leave the good thing like a book THE POPES OF THE GREGORIAN RENAISSANCE. ST LEO IX TO HONORIUS II.A.D. 1049-1130 (THE LIVES OF THE POPES IN THE MIDDLE AGES Book 7) by Horace K. Mann? Some of you have a different opinion about book. But one aim that will book can give many details for us. It is absolutely suitable. Right now, try to closer with the book. Knowledge or facts that you take for that, it is possible to give for each other; you could share all of these. Book THE POPES OF THE GREGORIAN RENAISSANCE. ST LEO IX TO HONORIUS II.A.D. 1049-1130 (THE LIVES OF THE POPES IN THE MIDDLE AGES Book 7) by Horace K. Mann has simple shape nevertheless, you know: it has great and large function for you. You can seem the enormous world by available and read a book. So it is very wonderful. THE POPES OF THE GREGORIAN RENAISSANCE. ST LEO IX TO HONORIUS II.A.D. 1049-1130 (THE LIVES OF THE POPES IN THE MIDDLE AGES Book 7) by Horace K. Mann

THE POPES OF THE GREGORIAN RENAISSANCE. ST LEO IX TO HONORIUS II.A.D. 1049-1130
(THE LIVES OF THE POPES IN THE MIDDLE AGES Book 7) by Horace K. Mann epub PDF read Online Download.

THE POPES OF THE GREGORIAN RENAISSANCE. ST LEO IX TO HONORIUS II.A.D. 1049-1130 (THE LIVES OF THE POPES IN THE MIDDLE AGES Book 7) by Horace K. Mann Reader Review Online

CONTENTS

ST. LEO IX. (1049-1054)
VICTOR II. (1055-1057),
STEPHEN (IX.) X. (1057-1058)
NICHOLAS II. (1059-1061)
ALEXANDER II. (1061-1073)
ST. GREGORY VII. (1073-1085)
B. VICTOR III. (1086-1087)
B. URBAN II. (1088-1099)
PASCHAL I (1099-1118)
GELASIUS II (1118-1119)
CALIXTUS II (1119-1124)
HONORIUS II (1124-1130)

The century of papal history which it is hoped will be illustrated by the following pages was the age dominated by the great name of Hildebrand, and hence is often described as the saeculum Hildebrandicum. It was the age in which that high-minded and pure-souled monk strove, either by his own exertions or by those which he inspired, to promote that reform in the Church which had been inaugurated by St. Leo IX. The efforts at reform took the shape of a determined struggle against the triple scourge of simony, clerical incontinence, and the tyrannical interference of the powerful in the domain of the Church, and were at length focussed in the fight against lay investiture. But the attempt to stifle this abuse which was begun under the saintly Pontiff from Lorraine, was not destined to be concluded either in his reign, during which Hildebrand was trained, or in those of his immediate successors who were under the influence of Hildebrand, or in that of Hildebrand himself. It was not to be terminated till the pontificate of Calixtus II; while the general contest between the Papacy and the Empire which took its rise in this attempt at reform was to last till the fifteenth century, and was, in the temporal order, to exhaust both.

The reforming zeal of the Popes of the school of Hildebrand almost everywhere encountered the most stubborn opposition; so deep-rooted were the evils they strove to eradicate, so dear were they to the passions of the clergy, or to the interests of the great. And nowhere did they meet with greater opposition than in Italy. If simony was rife in France, it was worse in Germany, and worst of all in Italy; and if the spectacle of married priests and bishops was not uncommon in other countries of Europe, it was nowhere more obvious than in Italy, and especially in Milan and in Lombardy generally. The reason of this is not far to seek. Though the Church OF Italy, especially in its northern portion, had, owing to the power of its bishops, and to the comparatively rare interfering visits of the German emperors, been free to a very large extent from the royal oppression under which it groaned in other countries, it had become thoroughly demoralized by the terrible anarchy of the tenth century, and its bishops were, for the most part, as loose in their morals as their secular compeers.

Though, then, the fight for independence and reform upon which the Popes had entered was to be long and bitter, and was to bring upon them a very large share of suffering from the Franconian emperors and their con-temptible antipopes, they were not to stand alone in the combat. The words of such fiery champions of reform as St. Peter Damian must never be taken too literally. There were always good priests and even good bishops, and that too even in Italy, who were longing for a reformation in manners, and who were only waiting for an opportunity to help to promote it. Especially were the Popes supported by the religious orders, by the Camaldolese, founded by St. Romuald (1009), by the Premonstratensians (1125), and especially by the Benedictines, revived by the reforms of Cluny and by those of the Carthusians (1084), and of the Cistercians (1098), and producing from such centres as Bec and Clairvaux men like Lanfranc and SS. Anselm and Bernard. They were sustained also in their conflict against the powers of evil by men deservedly conspicuous for their sanctity, by St. Peter Damian, by St. Bruno of Segni, by St. John Gualbert, with his order of Vallombrosa, and by St. Bruno with his Carthusians, who by their silence and penitential life protested loudly against the disorders of the age.....

THE POPES OF THE GREGORIAN RENAISSANCE. ST LEO IX TO HONORIUS II.A.D. 1049-1130 (THE LIVES OF THE POPES IN THE MIDDLE AGES Book 7) by Horace K. Mann ebook PDF online